AdSense Tip: When to Participate in Google AdSense:

The AdSense program is Web related and hence you must have a website to participate. Once your website is ready and the contents optimized, you can submit your application. The AdSense program is not restricted only to high page rank sites as some seem to think.

AdSense Tip: Where to place Google AdSense ads. in your Website.

The AdSense ads. can be placed anywhere in your web pages, but there are specific areas in your web pages that are recommended by Google which have been found to generate more clicks.

According to Google and our own experience: Ads placed above the fold tend to perform better than those below the fold.

Ads placed near rich content and navigational aids usually do well because users are focused on those areas of a page.

Ads placed at the top of the page and at the left generally perform better than others.

Ads at the bottom of long articles and those that are integrated or merge with the content too perform very well.

Of course there are other strategies, such as creating high paying keyword content pages to suit individual sites and also generating more traffic to your site. These have to be implemented too, to ensure success.
